

Help us help others. Support End of Life Washington.

We rely on the generous support of people like you to help Washington residents make some of the most important decisions of their lives. Your tax-deductible gifts supports us in providing education, advocacy, and support services regarding all legal end-of-life choices.

Donors enable us to train and support a team of volunteers who educate and support people seeking Medical Aid in Dying (MAiD) and Voluntary Stopping Eating and Drinking (VSED). We also offer advance planning workshops across the state to educate people about their legal options and how to ensure that their choices will be honored. We also work with healthcare providers and community organizations to protect your individual right to a full range of end-of-life choices.

“

There are not enough words to express our gratitude for all that you did for our mom in her final days. Without you, this would have never been possible. She is greatly missed, but we are happy to know that she is at peace.

A grateful End of Life Washington client

End of Life Washington upholds your right to the full range of end-of-life choices, including Medical Aid in Dying, through advocacy, education, and support. We promote advance planning and envision a day when all Washington residents will make informed decisions so they may experience deaths that are consistent with their values.

You've lived life on your own terms.

You have the right to die the same way.

We make sure everyone in Washington has that option by:

- Providing you with the tools you need to plan for a death in a way that is consistent with your values.
- Offering access across the state through presentations to take the worry out of end-of-life planning for you and your loved ones.
- Guarding your rights under Washington's Death with Dignity Act, making sure you have access to the support you need should you choose Medical Aid in Dying.
- Guiding providers through the legal process of prescribing aid-in-dying medications to ensure that they comply with the law and provide accurate information to their patients.
- Offering 1:1 support to clients who are looking to access the Death with Dignity Act or choose Voluntary Stopping Eating and Drinking (VSED). We provide this support at no cost to clients or their loved ones.

We protect your right to a planned death.

Since 1988, End of Life Washington has been our state's most knowledgeable resource for end-of-life planning. We make it easy for you to prepare in advance for what you want when you die and help you ease the transition for your loved ones. From educational workshops about end-of-life options to providing you with the legal documents that help your loved ones understand and respect your final wishes.

We educate you about all your options, respect your decisions without judgment, and empower you to have choice and control over the end of your life.

No one should have to suffer needlessly when death is inevitable and imminent.

For those who choose to use Washington's Death with Dignity Act, we provide knowledgeable, caring volunteers who work with you and your loved ones to provide education, advocacy, and support. Our services are offered at no cost to clients to ensure that finances are never a barrier to carrying out your end-of-life wishes.

By ensuring that people know their rights under the law and have access to the support they need should they choose aid in dying, we provide peace of mind, relieve suffering, and ensure they can have the death they choose. Likewise, we enable your loved ones peace of mind in knowing that you are making the end-of-life decisions that are right for you. As a result, they are better able to support you and your wishes as you approach death.

Doctors, nurses, social workers, pharmacists, and other health care providers across our state trust End of Life Washington.

When you use our services, we help you with:

- Finding or switching to hospices that provide Medical Aid in Dying or VSED services.
- Finding providers who will prescribe and pharmacies that will fill prescriptions for aid-in-dying medications.
- Talking to your provider about hospice, palliative care, and pain management.
